OUR STORY

I'm Judith Pinkerton. I started Music4Life over 30 years ago after my recorded solo violin music replaced my husband's medication after emergency back surgery. I had been privileged to share the stage with music greats like Natalie Cole, Tony Bennett, Metallica, Barry Manilow and Elton John. But none of that prepared me for the realization that it was possible for music to work like actual medicine.

I am a board-certified music therapist, licensed in the state of Nevada. I have spent the last 30 years developing, refining and clinically testing the Music4Life Music Medicine Protocol. The challenge has been, how to make this an easily scalable solution. Until now people have to see a music therapist to do this. Frankly, that is still the best way to develop what my clients like to call their "Music Medicine Pill." But we have developed educational products that will help your customers learn about the opportunities and strategies for using music as medicine.

OUR MISSION

To become the leading integrative medicine provider of self-discovery music wellness products, research and education programs to help consumers become more resilient, healthy, productive, energized, happier and peaceful.

WHOLESALE
